Mission Statement

UNC Asheville is a selective, public liberal arts institution. UNCA's Intercollegiate Athletic Program reflects the attitudes and values underlying the University's overall mission: academic excellence, diversity, equity, integrity, service, and accomplishment. The UNCA athletics program contributes to this liberal arts culture in two ways. First, athletics programs foster a sense of community and pride by fielding NCAA Division I teams and developing talented student-athletes who successfully represent UNCA in competition and reflect the University's commitment to overall excellence. Accordingly, the athletics program encourages an atmosphere of respect for self and others through the development of ethical conduct, sportsmanship, leadership, and citizenship and provides equitable opportunities for all students and staff, including women, minorities and individuals of all sexual identities. Second, the program provides an additional campus experience for capable students to grow and develop academically, personally, socially, and athletically. This experience promotes institutional commitment and pride on the part of students, faculty, staff, and alumni.

Head Coach Michele Cornish

Michele Cornish

Head Women's Soccer Coach
11th Year at UNC Asheville
George Mason (1990)

Michele Cornish begins her 11th year as head coach of the UNC Asheville women's soccer program. In that time, Cornish has taken the Bulldog program from a school barely above club status to a program that has been ranked in the South region. The Bulldogs have won one Big South Conference championship and finished runner-up four times.

Under Cornish's guidance, the Bulldogs have advanced to the Big South Conference championship game five different times and won the 1995 title. In addition, UNCA has been ranked three different times in the South region under Cornish's watch. The South region is known as the best region for women's soccer in the nation.

The former George Mason star has rebuilt the Bulldog program the past four years and has the Bulldogs poised to make a return to the top in the Big South Conference this year. Asheville just missed making its first trip to the NCAA Tournament and claiming its second title when it advanced to the league title game against High Point last season. The Bulldogs fell in Penalty Kicks, 3-2 to the Panthers but finished the season with an overall record of 11-6-3.

In 2002, the Bulldogs finished with a 9-8-1 record and made a great run to the Big South Conference championship game. Seeded fifth, UNCA upset fourth-seeded Elon and top-seeded Liberty in penalty kicks. The Bulldogs fell in the championship game to Radford, 2-0.

In 1998, UNCA finished with an 11-7-1 record, the fourth straight winning season for the Bulldogs. For four consecutive years, Cornish's club was the top defensive team in the Big South Conference. UNCA finished in second place in league play and advanced to the league championship game for the third time in four years.

The 1997 season had the Bulldogs finish with a 9-8-1 overall record, the program's third straight winning season. The Bulldogs advanced to the semifinals of the league tournament for the third straight season and narrowly missed advancing to the title game with a last-minute 2-1 loss to eventual champ South Alabama.

In the 1996 season, the Bulldogs finished with a 10-3-1 overall record. UNCA finished the season with a seven-game unbeaten streak. For the second straight year, Cornish's club advanced to the Big South Conference championship game against nationally-ranked UNC Greensboro. UNCA was gunning for its second consecutive league title at the expense of the Lady Spartans. The Bulldogs came up just short as they lost to UNCG 4-3 in a shootout after four overtime periods. UNCA earned impressive victories over NCAA Sweet 16 participant Wake Forest, 2-0 and a 2-1 road win at Southern Conference champion Davidson. Asheville finished the season unbeaten at home with a 6-0 record. UNCA outscored its opponents 22-2 at home in the 1996 season.

The 1995 season produced one of the most amazing stories in collegiate soccer. Picked to finish in fourth place in preseason Big South polls, the Bulldogs steamrolled to a 16-5 overall record. UNCA finished second in the regular season, its highest finish ever. The Bulldogs then recorded a 3-0 win over UMBC in the semifinals and then shocked UNC Greensboro 1-0 on the Lady Spartans home turf for the program's first ever championship. Cornish's club finished with numerous school records and a No. 7 ranking in the South Region. Cornish was rewarded at the end of the season by being named Big South Conference Coach of the Year.

The Colorado native was a four-year letterwinner for the Lady Patriots of Georgia Mason University from 1985 until 1989. In her freshman year, she started and played forward on the 1985 Lady Patriot squad that won the NCAA national championship over North Carolina, 2-0. While playing for George Mason, Cornish was an all-conference performer for two seasons and earned all-tournament honors in two tournaments. She also earned the coaches award two of her years at Mason.

Cornish enjoyed a spectacular high school career at Arvada West High School in Arvada, Colorado. She set a national scoring record in the spring of 1985 for boys and girls by scoring 50 goals in 16 games. Cornish also earned all-state, all-conference and team MVP honors her sophomore, junior and senior years. Also in 1985, she was named to the U.S. Nationals team, which competed in China for three weeks. At 18, Michele was the youngest player on the squad.

Her husband, Steve, has been the men's coach at UNCA for 12 seasons and was named the Big South Conference Coach of the Year in 1995 and 2001. The couple, who reside in Weaverville, have one son, Cameron (11) and one daughter Cheyney (6).

Michele Cornish has been the head coach at UNC Asheville for 10 seasons.

2004 UNC Asheville Women's Soccer Preview

The UNC Asheville women's soccer team is looking to knock down the door that leads to a Big South Conference championship.

For the past two seasons, the Bulldogs have been oh-so-close to winning a Big South Conference title and advancing to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history. In 2002, Asheville pulled off two upsets in penalty kicks to get to the title match before falling to Radford, 2-0.

Last year was really tough. The Bulldogs roared to the championship match with two decisive victories before taking on homestanding High Point. The teams battled through 110 minutes of scoreless soccer before heading to penalty kicks. Asheville scored on its first two kicks and led 2-0 before the Panthers scored on their next three kicks to stun the Bulldogs, 3-2. High Point would go to the NCAA Tournament, while Asheville would take the runner-up trophy for the second straight season. The Bulldogs finished the year with an 11-6-3 overall record, the most wins for the program in five seasons.

But for Head Coach Michele Cornish and her 2004 team, they want a Big South Conference championship and a trip to the NCAA tournament. And there's a good chance the Bulldogs can accomplish that this year. Asheville returns eight starters and 14 letterwinners this season. Cornish also brought in a talented recruiting class that will push the returning players and form a potentially great team, maybe the best in school history.

"We're very determined to win a Big South Conference championship this year," stated Cornish. "It was tough to lose on penalty kicks in the finals last year. We've worked very hard since then with the returning players, and I'm optimistic that our freshmen class will contribute immediately."

Cornish would like to see her team perform a little more consistently this season. Asheville was 11-6-3 last year. Four of the Bulldog losses were by one goal and in each of those matches, UNCA outshot its opponent by a wide margin. In two of the three ties, the Bulldogs once again outshot their opponents and each time by a wide margin.

"Looking back at last season, I think we had some matches that we lost or tied that we really should have won," commented Cornish. "We simply need to be a little more consistent this year."

The following is a position-by-position analysis of the 2004 UNC Asheville women's soccer team.

Goalkeeper

The Bulldogs return experience and depth in goal this season. Senior Rebecca Bostian and junior Mich Mattos both played a great deal last year. Both have shown remarkable improvement each year they've been with the program. Each has experience of playing in a big game.

Bostian played in a career-high seven matches last season, earning six starts. She had 3.5 shutouts. Mattos was in 14 matches and had 11 starts with 4.5 shutouts and a goals-against-average of 1.12. She was Asheville's goalkeeper in the Big South Conference Tournament and allowed just one goal in three matches. Mattos gave the Bulldogs a chance to win the championship with two saves in the penalty kick phase against High Point.

"We really have a lot of depth in goal this season and that will help to build team confidence," declared Cornish.

"Rebecca has worked very hard and improved with each season," said Cornish. "Last year, we played her a lot and she did a great job in the nets. I would expect the same from her this season."

"Mich stepped up her game this summer having played for the Asheville Splash. She's determined to be a key player and leader."

Defenders

Once again the Bulldogs have experience and depth in the back for the 2004 season. Asheville returns three starters in the back led by senior defender Erin Trigonoplos. The Colorado native has started every game she's played for the Bulldogs since her freshman year. Joining Trigonoplos in the back is junior Emily Langill, who enjoyed a great season for the Bulldogs in 2003 earning all-conference honors.

"These two are critical for our success this season," stated Cornish. "Both have a lot of experience and have been through a great deal during their careers. We look for them to have big seasons for us in 2004.

"Erin is a steady defender and is tough to get around," Cornish also said. "She'll serve as a co-captain this year and will provide us with a lot of leadership."

"Emily is our general in the back," added Cornish. She is very composed under pressure and is very creative. Emily will also serve in a leadership role as co-captain."

Sophomore Kate Barrow enjoyed an excellent rookie campaign as she earned Big South All-Tournament honors. She's a versatile player who also plays in midfield.

"Kate did a terrific job for us last year in the back," Cornish explained. "She and Emily compliment one another very well on defense."

Junior Natasha Creticos will battle for playing time this year in the back.

"Natasha has gotten better with each season she's been with us," commented Cornish. "She'll give us some depth this year."

The Bulldogs will have two newcomers expected to push for playing time this season. They include freshman Mary Ashley McCollough and sophomore Katey Powell. McCollough enjoyed an excellent prep and club career in Gainesville, Fla., while Powell transfers in from nearby Warren Wilson College.

"Mary Ashley is very fast with a good vision of the field," said Cornish. "We'll likely use her as a wide back. We're excited about her potential."

"Katey is a transfer from Warren Wilson and should push for playing time, as well" added Cornish.

Midfielders

UNC Asheville should be strong in the midfield this year as the Bulldogs return most of their midfielders from 2003.

Heading the list of returnees is senior Olivia Korman. Korman has been a three-year starter for the Bulldogs and should be a ready to have a big year in 2004.

"Olivia is a true utility player because she can play anywhere on the field," declared Cornish. "She's a player who can make things happen."

Junior Brita Nordgren is back as she enjoyed a breakout year in 2003. She was a second team all-conference selection for Asheville with a goal and three assists.

"Brita played very well last season, and I'm so excited to have her as a part of our program for the next two years," commented Cornish. "She's a player who wins battles in the air and does everything I ask for her. I think Brita will be even more of a threat to score this year."

Senior defender Erin Trigonoplos will anchor the Bulldogs' defense this season.

Sophomore Ashleigh Carter started and played in all 20 games for the Bulldogs last season as a wide midfielder. She was third on the club in scoring with three goals, three assists for nine points.

"Ashleigh had a superb rookie year," stated Cornish. "She has a great work rate and is a tenacious player who is always ready to play. Ashleigh is recovering from ankle surgery, but I expect her to be ready in September. If healthy, she will certainly push for All-Conference honors."

Sara Pahl was another freshman who shined for the Bulldogs last season. Like Carter, Pahl was a wide midfielder in 2003 and also played some in the back. She scored three goals for Asheville.

"Sara was just like Ashleigh but played on the other side of the field," commented Cornish. "I was really pleased with the job she did last season, and we expect her to be even better this season."

Sophomore Lauren Wingo played at center midfield last season and could compete for a starting spot this year.

"Lauren is a tough player with good skills," said Cornish. "I'd like to see her set up more goals this year. She has good vision and can be very creative on the ball."

Cornish has brought in a some newcomers who should push the upper classmen for playing time in 2004.

Start with freshman Soshana Fried, who comes to Asheville via East Chapel Hill HS, one of the state's best prep programs.

"Soshana reminds me of Brita with regard to her playing ability," stated Cornish. "She has good vision and is a talented playmaker."

Freshman Morgen Priest is a Texas native, coming back from a knee injury.

"Morgen is someone who has a good work ethic and knows how to pass the ball to the right person," said Cornish. "We'll have to see how she bounces back after her knee injury but if she's OK, I can see her pushing for playing time this season."

Rookie Erin Koch enjoyed a great prep career at Watagua HS in Boone and earned a spot on the West team in the East-West All-Star game in July.

"Erin is a threat to score and a tough defender," stated Cornish. "She's patient on the ball and sees the field well."

Freshman Cari Holt comes from Virginia.

"Cari has good skills and has worked hard this summer," explained Cornish. "She'll vie for playing time this season."

Forwards

UNC Asheville returns the most dangerous scorer in the Big South this season in junior Hilary McKay. McKay re-wrote the Bulldog single-season record book last year with 21 goals and six assists for a mind-boggling 48 points. Her 21 goals placed her sixth nationally, while her 48 points ranked her eighth in the nation. McKay was an all-conference and all-tournament performer. She may be the best player ever to wear a Bulldog uniform.

"The great thing about Hilary is that she can be even better this year," declared Cornish. "She's a phenomenal forward who could play for any team in the country. Hilary has just been superb for us since she got here, and we're hoping for her to have another fantastic season this year."

However, a big key for Asheville this year will be giving McKay some help up front. The Bulldogs biggest graduation loss from last year's club is second leading scorer Kelsey Dawson. Dawson, who finished her career as the second all-time leading scorer at UNC Asheville with 36 goals, scored 11 times in 2003. She will be missed.

"Kelsey will be quite tough to replace," explained Cornish. "She was a threat to score every time she was on the field. We have to get Hilary some help up front this season. We have options here; it's choosing her counterpart that is the question mark."

One option could be junior Stephanie Feltis. Feltis missed last season due to an ACL injury suffered in the preseason.

2004 UNC Asheville Women's Soccer Preview

She's worked hard to come back from the injury and should be ready to go in 2004.

"Stephanie worked so hard last summer and was really playing well in the preseason when she went down with an ACL injury," said Cornish. "But she'll be healthy and able to help us up front this season."

Another newcomer, Joy Haynes, will push for playing time up front. Haynes had a great career at Asheville HS, and Cornish hopes she'll be able to help the bulldogs this season.

"Joy Haynes scored a lot of goals for Asheville HS and is very fast," stated Cornish. "She has the potential to be a very good player."

Schedule

The Bulldogs play a tough schedule that will feature their first four matches of the season away from home. Asheville opens the season at the Tennessee Tech Country Inn & Suites Tournament in Cookeville, Tenn. The Bulldogs face defending Division II national champion Kennesaw State in the opening match on Aug. 27 and then battle Tennessee Tech two days later (Aug. 29).

Asheville travel to mountain rival Western Carolina on Sept. 3 before playing at East Tennessee State on Sept. 6. The Bulldogs finally play their home opener against Gardner-Webb on Sept. 9.

Michele Cornish's club will begin Big South Conference play at Coastal Carolina on Sept. 18 before coming home to face Appalachian State (Sept. 22) and Birmingham-Southern (Sept. 26).

The Bulldogs play at Davidson (Sept. 29) before hosting High Point (Oct. 2) in a rematch of last year's Big South Conference championship match. Asheville will hit the road for three matches, including two key conference matches at Winthrop (Oct. 6) and Charleston Southern (Oct. 9). The Bulldogs finish up the road swing against national power Clemson (Oct. 12).

Asheville finishes up the season with three of its last five matches at home. The Bulldogs face Radford (Oct. 15) and Tusculum (Oct. 19) before heading to Liberty (Oct. 23) and South Carolina State (Oct. 26). UNCA will finish the regular season with a home match against Big South Conference foe VMI (Oct. 30). The Bulldogs will vie for a Big South Conference championship (Nov. 4-7) in Charleston, S.C.

"I think we have a pretty balanced schedule this season," declared Cornish. "We have some tough non-conference matches that will prepare us for Big South Conference play. Ultimately though, it's the conference matches which will determine our fate at the end of the season."

Junior midfielder Brita Nordgren had a breakthrough year in 2003 and was a second team all-conference performer.

Big South

Cornish expects another balanced race in the Big South Conference. The Bulldogs finished in fourth place last year but was one victory away from finishing in first place.

"Our league is so balanced," stated Cornish. "We have parity all the way from top to bottom. There were a lot of one-goal matches last year. I would expect things to be much the same this season."

"We want to finish near the top in the regular season, win the conference tournament and go to the NCAA tournament," added Cornish. "We think we have the personnel to accomplish that but we obviously need to get the job done on the field."

"We've been so close the last two years and a championship is our goal," Cornish also said. "We'll need to stay away from injuries and play consistent soccer to be in that position again this year."

2004 UNC Asheville Women's Soccer Preview

Junior forward Hilary McKay was sixth in the nation in goal scored last season with 21.

Kate Barrow will be one of Asheville's midfielders in 2004..

Chancellor

James Mullen

James H. Mullen, Jr., was elected Chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Asheville on April 9, 1999 by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors and took office August 1. UNC Asheville is the designated liberal arts campus of the University of North Carolina system.

Previously, Dr. Mullen served as senior vice president and director of Project 2002 at Trinity College, a prestigious liberal arts college in Hartford, Connecticut. There, he was responsible for Trinity's comprehensive master plan for the future and shepherding a $300-million public/private revitalization now transforming the neighborhood surrounding the college.

Dr. Mullen joined Trinity College in 1995 as vice president for strategic planning and community relations, overseeing long-range planning, legislative and community relations, and Trinity's neighborhood revitalization initiative. In 1996 he was promoted to vice president for student services, where he was responsible for shaping and administering all policies and programs affecting student life at Trinity.

Dr. Mullen was a sought-after lecturer in Trinity College's Public Policy Department, where his work focused on the American presidency. He holds an appointment as Professor in the UNC Asheville department of Political Science.

A native of Holyoke, Massachusetts, he majored in history at the College of the Holy Cross in Massachusetts, graduating magna cum laude in 1980. He earned a master's degree in public policy from Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government in 1984, and a doctorate in higher education from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, in 1994.

An avid proponent of community service, Dr. Mullen serves on various boards including the United Way of Asheville and Buncombe County; the Asheville Symphony; the Asheville Area Chamber of Commerce; WCQS Public Radio; Asheville-Buncombe VISION, Inc.; the North Carolina Arboretum; the Western North Carolina Community Development Association; and the City of Asheville Sustainable Economic Development Task Force. He is also a member of the Leadership and Institutional Effectiveness Committee of the American Council on Education.

He and his wife, Mari, have two young children: Mary Frances and James Charles.

Athletics Director

Janet Cone

Janet Cone joined UNC Asheville as Athletics Director in April 2004. Previously, she served as Associate Athletics Director at Samford University in Birmingham, Ala. Samford, which has 4,500 students, competes at the NCAA Division I level and offers 17 men's and women's sports.

Cone joined Samford in 1996, recruiting and coaching Samford's first women's basketball team. She coached the Samford Bulldogs for five years, and then moved up the ranks to become the Assistant Athletics Director/Senior Women's Administrator and then Associate Athletics Director.

Cone is no stranger to Western North Carolina. Earlier in her career, she coached women's basketball at Western Carolina University and Mars Hill College.

Cone graduated magna cum laude from Furman University in 1978, earning a degree in health and physical education, and lettering in basketball and field hockey.

She earned a master's degree in physical education from the University of South Carolina in 1986.

She is a member of the Women's Sports Foundation, National Association of Collegiate Athletic Administrators, National Association of Collegiate Marketing Administrators and the Executive Women's Golf Association.
